

RELATIONAL EMBODIMENT: NEW FRONTIERS IN CLINICAL SETTING

Monday, April 4th, 2022

UNIVERSITY OF PADOVA; FISPPA DEPARTMENT

Room T2 (CLA), via Venezia 16

Plan

14.30: Stefania Mannarini (Padua University): Opening Welcome

14.45: Marcello Ghilardi (Padua University): Embodiment from a philosophical perspective: from tradition to modernity

15.15: Johann R. Kleinbub (Padua University): Preliminary results on the development of an interpersonal biofeedback system aimed to enhance the clinical relationship

15.45: Dana Tzur-Bitan, Ariella Grossman-Giron (Ariel University, Israel): The role of Oxytocin in psychotherapeutic change: Shalvata Mental Health Center project

16.15: Coffee Break

16.45: Virpi-Liisa Kykyri (University of Jyväskylä, Finland): Relational Mind project: Findings and challenges in studying meanings of interpersonal synchronies in different modalities

17.15: Fabian Ramseyer (Bern University): Analysis of body-motion in psychotherapy with rMEA: Current results and projects

17.45: Eugenia Ribeiro-Pereira (Minho University, Portugal), Emanuele Pick, Ylenia Cariolato (Padua University): Physiological processes underlying therapeutic microprocess assessed with TCCS: preliminary results

18.15: Arianna Palmieri (Padua University): Outlining future perspectives in Relational Embodiment and Psychotherapy Research field and concluding remarks

18.30: Panel discussion

Discussant: Arianna Palmieri, Johann R. Kleinbub

Participation is free. The teaching staff of the School of Psychology of the University of Padua and of the FISPPA Department, postdoctoral students and students are invited to participate.

(maximum capacity of the classroom: 250 seats, subject to availability depending on the order of entry). It is mandatory to have a reinforced green pass and a covid mask for participation

1222•2022
800
ANNI

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI
DI PADOVA

FISPPA
Dipartimento di Filosofia, Sociologia,
Pedagogia e Psicologia Applicata